Portfolio Composition

To maintain competitive advantage and ensure business continuity, you need to keep your finger on the pulse of your business. You need the right set of tools to proactively view and interrogate changes in risk position. And, you need your business performance to be well understood and communicated coherently and consistently.

The SpatialKey Portfolio Composition application features rich visual analytics, delivered in an interactive dashboard that reports portfolio risk position and composition. This application makes accessing and visualizing analytic content easy and convenient from your desk or from the road on your mobile device. By providing more transparency into your business, you can help your business leaders access and derive insights more frequently than ever before.

Understanding the key business contributors to your overall exposure and modeled loss is simple with Portfolio Composition. Not only can you immediately visualize your top risk drivers and underperforming business segments, you can instantly drill down into the data to gain insight into what's driving risk at a geographic level – and by individual location characteristics like construction and occupancy.

SpatialKey Portfolio Composition delivers an unmatched user experience, tailored to work intuitively on mobile devices, that is readily accessible and actionable for analysts, portfolio managers, and executives. You can also load data directly from your internal systems on a regular, automated basis via the SpatialKey API, which enables you to access the most up-to-date view of your portfolio. This means you and your executive team can quickly pull up the analytics you need anytime and anywhere and start calibrating your business strategy.

SpatialKey offers speed-of-thought analytics and agile visualizations to eliminate traditional technology barriers and elevate your organization with enhanced insight and intuition.
